Two-way fight for mayor as Sally goes for 6th year

MAYOR Sally Holman will be attempting to write herself into the historic books of Lyme Regis when she goes for a sixth year in office at tomorow's town council meeting.

If she succeeds, she will become only the second town councillor to serve as First Citizens for four consecutive years, the late Henry Broom having achieved a similar record back in the 1970s.

She will also equal Barbara Austin's record of serving as town mayor for six years. She first led the council for two years in 2007 and 2008 and she is about to complete her second term of three years which started in 2011.

Councillor Holman is being challenged by former First Citizen Michaela Ellis, who served as mayor for a two year period in 2009-2010.

By Philip Evans philip@pemedia.co.uk

Nominations for mayor-elect were received at the town council offices for Councillors Holman and Ellis by the 12noon deadline on Monday.

Three nominations were also received for deputymayor-elect - Councillor Anita Williams, Councillor Ellis and Councillor Stan Williams, which throws up a possible unique situation of father and daughter competing for one of the town's key posts.

Stan Williams returned to the council chamber after winning the by-election last year caused by the resignation of Jill Newton. He is also a former First Citizen.

Custom abandoned

Following a council resolution that goes back to the late 1970s, it was customary for a mayor to be given more than a two-year term only if there were no other candidates. However, that custom has been abandoned in recent years with Councillor Holman last year winning a third term on her own casting vote when challenge by Councillor Chris Clipson, who had not served before.

Councillor Holman has presided over the town council's most difficult years with two councillors (Jill Newton and Daryl Turner) resigning in controversial circumstances and staff complaining about being treated in an agressive manner by members.

New town clerk John Wright also warned councillors that their poor behaviour in the council chamber was

■ SALLY HOLMAN: 'Best qualified to serve again'

■ MICHAELA ELLIS: 'People asked me to stand' bringing the council into disrepute and making life difficult for the staff.

It was widely exepected that Councillor Holman would not seek another term but she feels the experience she has gained over the past three years makes her the best candidate to see out the fifth year of the council's current term with an election pending in May 2015.

Councillor Ellis said she had allowed her name to be put forward after being asked by a number of local people to stand sagain.

Councillor Holman hosted the annual Civic Night on Saturday with more than 100 people attending including just four councillors - Michaela Ellis, Anita Williams, Stan Williams and Ann Bradbury, the lowest number in recent times recently moved back to Bridport, where he went to school, to take up the position of managing director in his own business, Gavin Dixon Finance Solutions. He lives in Bridport with his long-term

YOU came from a traditional farming family - how did you make the switch to finance?

My dad was a dairy farmer and has owned a couple of his own farms. He also was the estate manager at Ashley Chase Estate in the Bride Valley, which was why we moved to Bridport. I was unsure what I wanted to do in life but was sure I did not want to milk cows 24/7 so I thought that going to university would give me more options in life.

I was applying for jobs in my final year when I saw a job advertised working for BNP Paribas Lease Group in their farm division. It seemed to make perfect sense to me as I knew farming and I knew finance, so putting the two together was a logical step. I have been working in business to business finance ever since.

CAN you give us a brief summary of what service your business provides?

Gavin Dixon Finance Solutions Ltd. is an independent finance broker business which assists local business in finding finance from funders who are not on the high street for the purchase of assets. In simple terms, if a farmer was looking to buy a new or used tractor we can help that farmer get finance for that tractor to make it more affordable, and it also helps companies protect their cash flow. I can help all companies find finance, whether they are farmers, builders, haulers and so on, as long as there is an asset, we can find the finance.

YOU moved back to Bridport after working for companies in London - what was the reason behind the move?

The reason for the move was that I changed my role at Hitachi Capital Business Finance and became a national broker manager. Part of the deal of taking the job was that I had to relocate but the company did not mind where I moved to. As I have always classed Bridport as my hometown and have a lot of friends down here, I chose to move back. After three years of driving the length and breadth of the UK and spending four nights away a week, I decided to set up my own business.

IN what ways is your job different in Dorset compared to the capital?

The basics of the job are the same - I am helping customers find the most competitive finance to suit their business. However, my previous role was to assist the brokers to ensure they gave me the business rather than giving the business to any of our competitors. Now I am dealing with local dealerships and the customers who are buying the equipment and my old customers, the brokers, are now my competition.

IS business in Bridport strong? Was it a motivating factor to try and help business in your hometown?

There is a lot of business in Bridport and some local businesses have been very supportive. However, like in any job I have struggled with some of the larger companies in the area which seem unwilling to give me the time of day. When starting my business my main aim was to give something back to the community that had welcomed me when I was 11 and now class me as a local lad who has a funny accent! Helping other local business is definitely my main goal and in time as the business grows then recruiting local people into my business will also be very impor-

WHAT do you like about working in the industry?

Working in finance is a very interesting role as you get to meet lots of different people and lots of different businesses - some businesses you have never heard about so you get to learn lots of new things. It is also very rewarding to know you have helped a business buy a new machine which will then in turn assist them in growing their own business. Indirectly my business can help lots of people and businesses grow and meet their full potential.

• HOW challenging was it to set up your own business? Do you prefer working for yourself?

Starting my own business was challenging as I have never done it before but the process is fairly simple, as long as you get the right advice from a good accountant and also from friends or acquaintances who have set up their own businesses. The scariest element of setting up your own business is not knowing when your next pay cheque is coming in - after being employed for 13 years and being paid on the same day of every month to suddenly not knowing if you are going to be able to make a mortgage payment is very unnerving.

If you stay focussed, work hard and never give up you will always be able to make things work and 11 months later I am still here and loving every minute of running my own business. I can honestly say I do not think I could ever work for anyone ever again - being your own boss and reaping the benefits of your own hard work is so rewarding. My only regret in life is that I did not do this sooner.

DO you have any ambitions for the future?

My long term goal is to be able to buy a farm or small holding and set up a charity so that disadvantaged and/or disabled children can come and enjoy a farm experience, my partner looks after disadvantaged children and my sister fosters children, and with my Dad's farming experience I believe we can run a successful charity and help lots of

ARE you settled in the area now, or do you think you will move again in the future?

I cannot see myself leaving the area but you can never say never as you do not know what life can throw at you. I came back to Bridport beacuse I love being in the beautiful countryside and so close to an amazing coast. In my 34 years I have lived in a lot of places - cities, towns and villages - and not one of them comes close to Bridport for

'We are not a bus company!'

COUNCILLORS REJECT SUGGESTION OF RUNNING THEIR OWN PARK AND RIDE

TOWN councillors gave a resounding "no" to a suggestion that the authority could run its own park and ride service in Lyme Regis at a loss of more than £170,000 over four years.

The possibility of Lyme Regis Town Council running its own service was considered after news that Dorset County Council was withdrawing its funding for the 72 park and ride service from Charmouth Road. The subsidy was previously paid to Damory Coaches which sub-contracted the service to Mike Halford Coaches.

Councillors recently considered a report by deputy town clerk Mark Tredwin on the feasibility of a council-run park and ride. It explained that the council could run its own service from the councilowned Strawberry Field, opposite the existing park and ride field on Charmouth Road, and buy its own 17-seat minibus on a lease purchase plan, costing £504.40 a month for 48 months - a total of £29,211.20.

The council could employ two bus drivers and fuel costs, if the service was run from April to October, would total £15,274.56 a year.

Taking into consideration other financial implications, it is thought the service would cost a total of £283,929.44 over four years with an income of just £106,800 over the same period, equalling a loss of £177,129.44.

'Not a core service'

As well as the financial considerations, the report warned: "There are a number of major factors to take into account. The first of these is that running a bus service, even as low key as a park and ride service, is not something that is part of the core services that a town council would normally pro-

"There is no one on the payroll that has any experience of providing such a service. Setting up a council-run scheme would consume a huge amount of officer time to ensure that the council would not be exposed to a wide variety of risks associated with running what effectively amounts to a bus service."

Mr Tredwin concluded his report: "Looking at the model provided, it is very hard to put a financial case forward at this point for the council to run its own park and ride. The economies of scale are not present to justify doing this."

Councillors strongly agreed with the concerns. Councillor Anita Williams commented: "We just don't have the expertise. I can't see why we would even consider buying and running a bus ourselves, we wouldn't be able to provide a good service."

Councillor Mark Gage added: "I couldn't have put it better myself. I suggest we don't go into the bus business but I would like to see more people use our park and ride facilities."

Councillor Chris Clipson said: "I think the figures say to us 'go away in the other direction very quickly'.'

Councillor George Symonds also agreed, commenting: "We are not a bus company and I don't suggest we run one."

Councillor Williams suggested that the park and ride service be contracted out to a bus company. Councillor Clipson agreed, adding that the Saturday service on the 71 town bus could also be added to this, as it had also lost its funding from Dorset County Council.

Councillor Michaela Ellis suggested advertising the park and ride as a concession, similar to those for various activities on the beach.

It was agreed to ask council officers to look into the options of contracting the service out or advertising it as a concession and to report back with further details.

Town clerk John Wright said he was concerned that bus companies would be reluctant to take it on unless they were paid, as there was no guarantee it would make money and was weather dependent.

Councillor Terry O'Grady added that he would also like to see a model train to transport visitors along the seafront, and asked if this could also be Councillor Michaela Ellis called for a working group to start looking at how they wanted to improve the park, but operations manager Elliott Herbert said it was not one of the priority projects for the current financial year. These were the proposed skatepark, replacement of the church railings and work at Monmouth Beach, with the Anning Road playing field suggested as a project to look at in 2015. However, it was agreed that a report with options for the park be brought to tonight's full council meeting.

The report asks the council to approve spending £1,766 to make short-term repairs and replacement of equipment at the park. This will include the replacement of the seesaw for £1,230, a chain for the infant cradle swings for £256 and £280 for wet pour safety flooring which is deteriorating.

This expenditure is not included in the 2014-15 budget but can be authorised, and will reduce the

The slide on the wooden jungle gym at the park has been cordoned off with cones for several days, but this was not mentioned in the report. The town council were unable to comment on the condition of the slide at the time of going to press.

Ten interested in Rinky Tinks site

THE town council has received 10 expressions of interest from businesses hoping to take on the former Rinky Tinks premises in Lyme Regis, following news that the ice cream parlour closed down after owners were unable to pay rent.

Owners of Rinky Tinks on the Cart Road, Lucinda and Peter Cliff, forfeited their lease with the town council after struggling to pay their £21,000 rent per year and racking up a debt thought to be more than £26,000

Councillors are tonight (Wednesday) expected to discuss options for letting the property again.

In a report, deputy town clerk Mark Tredwin explains that it had been suggested that the property be leased on a short-term contract for the remainder of 2014 and a long-term contract be considered

He reveals that 10 expressions of interest have been received by the council and a formal tendering process will begin on Wednesday, April 9th with all tenders to be received by 12noon on Wednesday, April 16th along with business plans. An extraordinary meeting of the full council will be called after this date to consider tenders.

The permitted use of Rinky Tinks was limited to ice creams, packet sweets, minerals, hot drinks, cakes and biscuits and councillors will be asked if they wish this to remain the same.

Bus changes come into effect

CHANGES to the subsidised bus network across Dorset will come into effect on Sunday, April 6th.

The amendments are being made following Dorset County Council's cabinet meeting in December.

Across the county, 39 routes will be changed, with 39 left unaffected. Ten routes have been completely withdrawn and 12 Saturday services have been removed

In Lyme Regis, the Saturday service of the 71 town bus has been removed and the entire 72 park and ride service from Charmouth Road, which operates in the summer only, has been withdrawn.

The changes mean that the council achieves a saving of £822,000 from its £2.8 million bus subsidy expenditure. The saving is needed because councils no longer receive government funding to support noncommercial bus routes.

Initial proposals were drawn up about the routes most likely to be affected following a survey of passenger numbers, which highlighted that many routes were under used and not providing value for money for the Dorset council taxpayer.

Public consultation took place in the autumn, and the many responses have helped shape the final decision

Councillor Hilary Cox, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "We have taken note of the 1,200 responses and listened to all the comments and petitions from local residents. For example, we have worked with several communities to ensure that they will continue to have a Saturday service, even though this meant – in some cases – we have had to reduce services during the week.

"This review is not something we have undertaken lightly, and we fully understand that some bus services offer a lifeline to residents without transport of their own. Unlike many councils, we are still putting a substantial amount of money -£2 million - into supporting local bus services.

"And as part of this package we are also investing an additional £25,000 to help community transport schemes start up. There are already 60 voluntary car schemes, dial-a-rides and other community transport initiatives in existence across the county, helping overcome rural isolation."

School launches £18,000 fundraising appeal

ST Michael's Primary School in Lyme Regis launched an £18,000 fundraising campaign for a new playground last week.

The appeal was launched with an open day for local business people, at which pupils showed visitors around the school and playground and explained what they hoped to gain from their fundraising efforts.

Children showed visitors a display of drawings and ideas of what they hope the new playground will look like, before showing them around the existing outdoor play areas, one of which is currently cordoned off as it was deemed unsafe.

The students told those at the open day that they were planning to revamp their playground in three phases. The first and most important phase was to buy some new outdoor play equipment for the young Key Stage 1 children, which they currently are not allowed to use. The second phase would be making use of a grassy area in the Key Stage 1 playground and the third would be revamping a grass area in the Key Stage 2 playground for the older children, with many saying how much they wanted a shelter to provide a shaded area on hot, sunny days.

The pupils also hoped to buy chicken to live in an area of the playground, which would provide eggs for cookery and teach the younger children about where their food comes from.

Other playground equipment the children have been considering includes outdoor musical equipment, weaving panels and posts, log walks, rope bridges and tyre crossings.

The open day boosted the appeal by £1,000 thanks to local business representatives who pledged to support the campaign.

A spokesperson for the school's Parents and Friends Association said: "A huge thank you to all the local businesses who attended the fundraising event and have pledged financial support, we now have raised £1,000 towards the new playground equipment.

"We are always humbled by the generosity of the local traders who provide donations for the summer and Christmas fayres and they deserve a thank you for their ongoing support year in year out.

"If there are any companies who could not attend the fundraiser or individuals who are interested in donating, please do not hesitate to contact us, as we need to raise £18,000 to replace all existing playground areas.

"Our priority at present is the younger children's play equipment which is out of use as it is unsafe. This phase is likely to cost £6,000 so any financial support is greatly appreciated."

The school would also like to thank Creative Solutions for providing a banner and fundraising thermometer for free, Travis Perkins for offering to supply materials to help with the projects, Lyme Regis Co-Op for making St Michael's their school their charity of the year, Lyme Bay Holidays for a cash boost of £500, Lyme Regis Golf Club and Lyme Regis Tesco Express for the offer of raffle prizes and the RNLI for donating a quiz prize.

The school is currently running a fundraising quiz available at Tesco Express, Co-operative, Costa Coffee, The Good Food Store, the Tourist Information Centre and school in Lyme Regis, plus Uplyme Petrol Filling Station, and can be returned to the school with a £1 donation on April 22nd.

Double charity donation for those

THOSE attending the mayor's annual Civic Night in Lyme Regis on Saturday were feeling extra generous, with a double donation made to two causes for those most in need.

Fundraising activities at Councillor Sally Holman's celebrations raised funds for her chosen charity, Lyme Regis and District Food Band, and the View From's own campaign for Rotary charity Water Survival Box.

A raffle for the food bank, organised by local resident Judith Pothecary, raised £550, while a game of "heads and tails" raised £114.40 for the View's campaign. Deputy town clerk and Lyme Regis Rotarian Mark Tredwin also gave a demonstration of the Water Survival Box, which contains essential items, most importantly a water pump, and is sent to disaster zones and those most in need across the world.

Civic Night was held at the Woodmead Halls and attended by just over 100 guests representing local organisations.

Guests were announced as they arrived by town crier Alan Vian and greeted by the civic party, including Councillor Holman, Mayoress Jane Whittington, Deputy Mayor Councillor Anita Williams, town clerk John Wright and macebearers Colin Barker and Derek Hallett.

Other town councillors attending were Michaela Ellis, Stan Williams and Ann Bradbury, with other top table guests including chairman of West Dorset District Council, Councillor Gillian Summers, accompanied by six-times Mayor of Bridport, Councillor Geoffrey Ackerman, and head of engineering projects at the district council, Nick Browning.

Guests enjoyed a two-course dinner provided by caterer Laurie Statham and helpers, followed by entertainment by Bridport-based band, The Sidekicks.

In her speech, Councillor Holman, hosting her fifth civic night, gave a review of the year with special mention of the progress on Phase IV of the coastal protection works, currently being carried out on East Cliff.

She also congratulated town councillor Lorna Jenkin and her husband Keith, who could not attend as they were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Rotarians welcome endurance runner | Lifeboatmen rush to aid of CANADIAN endurance runner and Rotarian Martin Parnell passed through Lyme Regis on his way to completing an epic "multi-marathon" by running the 630-mile South West Coast Path, doing the equivalent of a marathon every day.

The 58-year-old from Alberta, Canada, aims to raise £100,000 for the children's charity Right to Play, which uses sport and play to educate and empower children to overcome the effects of poverty, conflict and disease in some of the world's most disadvantaged communities.

Martin, born in Devon, moved to Canada aged 21 to work in the mines. He took up running at 47 years old as a challenge from his brother following a family bereavement, and has since run several marathons.

He then decided to cycle from Cairo to Cape Town and, on the way, played football with children in Sudan and table tennis with Ethiopian children, which opened his eyes to how powerful sport and play was to children.

This led him to the children's charity Right to Play and the challenge to run 250 marathons in one year, which raised £180,000 for the charity. Now his aim is to lift that to £500,000, with the South West Coast path just one of the challenges.

Martin is not only putting in the legwork for this challenge, but as an international keynote speaker and author, he has been speaking at a number of different venues and events along the route to talk about his quest and to promote Right To Play.

With world champion cyclist Mark Cavendish an ambassador for the charity, and supported by Chelsea Football Club, Martin is in some pretty exalted company and has been supported and sponsored by Rotary Clubs throughout Cornwall, Devon and Dorset and the mining industry in Cornwall and Devon.

Lyme Regis Rotarian Leslie Stone, proprietor of the Royal Lion Hotel, provided accommodation for Martin when he stayed in Lyme Regis last week, and Rotarians David Bettes and John McCallum hosted Martin for the evening.

Mr Bettes said: "What a tremendous achievement. We are full of admiration for Martin's efforts to support such a worthwhile charity.

"Running one marathon is hard enough, running one on each of 25 consecutive days is mind blowing, but around the South West Coast Path... well, words fail me!"

Lifeboatmen rush to aid of woman on slippery rocks

TWO Lyme Regis lifeboatmen rushed to the aid of a woman who had injured herself after slipping on rocks last week.

Murray Saunders and Tom Wallis were enjoying a drink after an RNLI training session, and just days after completing a first aid course, when they realised the woman needed help.

Julie Andrews, 60, had slipped on rocks at the end of the harbour wall and had broken bones in her foot and

Murray said: "An ambulance was called and arrived quickly, but it appeared their stretcher had wheels and could not be pushed on the sand.

"We hurried back to the lifeboat station and got our stretcher so that we could carry the lady across the sand to the ambulance."

Mrs Andrews was taken to hospital in Dorchester her husband Richard, 61, later called at the lifeboat station with a donation for the RNLI charity.

He said: "We are very grateful to those young men. My wife was in a lot of pain."

The couple, from Warlingham, Surrey, were on holiday in Lyme Regis.

Rotary hold blood pressure checks

LOCAL nurses will work with Lyme Regis Rotarians on Saturday, April 5th to hold their annual free blood pressure checks, to raise awareness of the links between high blood pressure and the risk of a stroke.

Rotarian and organiser Richard Cridge said: "We have been running this campaign now for over 12 years. Local nurses will give up their free time on Saturday, April 5th to take blood pressure readings and advise people on follow-up procedure where necessary.

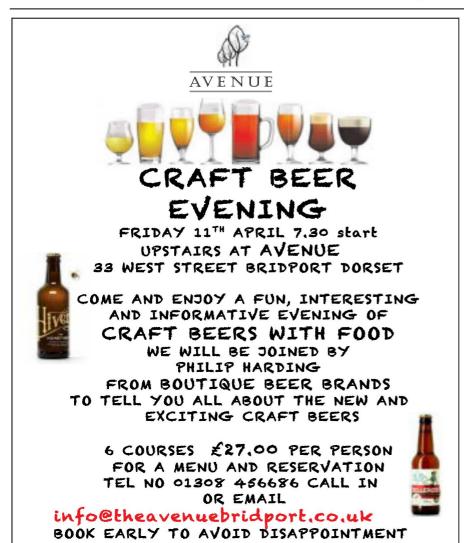

"Fortnam, Smith and Banwell will, as always, provide the facilities in their Broad Street premises. If we succeed even in making just one person more aware of the importance of regular health check-ups then the day will be a success.

"We urge readers to avail themselves of this confidential service."

New shop packed for opening

FRIENDS, family and supporters of artist Martin Wiscombe piled into his new Pug & Puffin shop in Lyme Regis for the official opening party on Friday evening.

A reception was held on Friday ahead of opening to the public on Saturday. Guests enjoyed refreshments as they browsed the new shop's varied stock, including Martin's own artwork, souvenirs and unusual gifts for dogs.

Originally from Lyme Regis, former Woodroffe School pupil Martin moved away from the town 40 years ago to make a career for himself as an artist. He studied illustration and art and worked as a designer at Simpsons of Picadilly before establishing his own advertising agency. He later set up a design and gifts business and now has an international reputation for his popular retro style and handpainted wares, now available in Pug & Puffin.

The stock ranges from clocks, mugs and chalkboards featuring Martin's own designs to doggy lifejackets and other quirky items.

■ CHILDREN from Uplyme Pre-School recently pulled on their wellies and walked to Cannington Viaduct as part of this term's theme "Where We Live". The children thoroughly enjoyed walking across the fields and along the lanes, where they looked for signs of spring. They spotted primroses, periwinkles, catkins and frog spawn. On arrival at the viaduct they were thrilled to hear their voices echo around the arches before they had a picnic snack.

Feedback needed on Neighbourhood Plan

COUNCILLORS in Uplyme are urging all village residents to return their feedback forms on the Neighbourhood Plan to ensure they have a say on the future of the community.

The questionnaires on Uplyme Neighbourhood Plan were delivered to every house in the village in early March. Peter Whiting, chairman of the Uplyme Neighbourhood Plan Group, said: "We need as much input as possible from everyone on what they see as the strengths and weaknesses of the parish as it is, and ideas on how it should be developed over the next 10 to 20 years".

Although the questionnaire will only take a few minutes to complete, the ideas provided by residents will form the basis for future work on the plan.

Forms must be returned by April 5th to the Post Office, a parish councillor or parish clerk Lois Wakeman.

Following this there will be a public meeting on Friday, April11th between 4pm and 8pm, at which all parishioners will be welcome to view the results.

Councillor Whiting concluded: "Please, please, please complete the questionnaire and return it, so that your ideas can be considered.

"We need ideas from all the different parts of the community, young and old, although the neighbourhood plan will of course have its greatest effect on the younger members of the community!"

Exploring Lauren is going for gold!

CHARMOUTH teenager Lauren Harrsion has been selected for the final round of the Olympic recruitment programme "Girls4Gold".

This is a nationwide search for fit, powerful, competitive female athletes who want to fulfil their Olympic ambitions as part of the Female Canoe Sprint Programme and the Olympic Team.

It is a perfect opportunity for the girls who apply to develop potential and see if they have what it takes to compete with the elite in the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games.

Lauren, who studies at Colyton Grammar School, took part in a number of training days as part of the application process, which tested her power, stamina and speed.

Out of over 1,000 applicants, she was one of 120 girls selected to attend a more sport-specific Phase 2 assessment in Nottingham last month.

Mark Hoile, GB's Canoeing UK Talent Lead Coach said: "Compared to past campaigns, I would say that the quality of athletes we saw were of a much higher calibre than we have seen before.

"The girls we saw looked very athletic, they were focused and determined and excited about this opportunity."

Lauren, who is about to turn 17, said: "It has always been an ambition of mine to be in the Olympics and I really hope that I get through to the next round - it's challenging but so enjoyable and worthwhile."

She will hear in the next few weeks whether she has been successful.

Help needed to clean-up play park

UPLYME residents are being asked to help cleanup the village's play park following recent storm damage.

The clean-up session will be held on the morning of Sunday, April 6th from 9am and all will be welcome to help.

A group of volunteers is hoping to clean-up the flood debris from the grass and surfaces so this much-used facility can be opened again after the recent poor weather for local children and holidaymakers in time for the school holidays.

Please bring a rake, broom, shovel, wheelbarrow and other relevant equipment and wear wellies or other sensible footwear.

View from the churches

be back in it weeks ago. So much for plans and hopes!

"We now reckon we'll be back for the end of the month, Sunday, April 27th. The 4pm service then will be conducted by the Torbay Gospelaires Male Voice Choir, followed by the now traditional, excellent, Bethany Sunday tea. All are welcome without admission charge or collection.

"It's not just Bethany has been living out of boxes for a while, as we cart books, lectern, and electronic items to Uplyme Village Hall each Sunday afternoon. As a family, we've just been involved in two house moves with a third one looming.

"I felt sorry for the Israelis of about 4,000 years ago, about whom I've just been reading in my daily Bible readings. They were on the move for 40 years – about two million of them – carrying their own possessions plus the whole of their God designed place of worship. What a good job today's churches aren't in that situation!

"When it boils down, church buildings are just convenient meeting places. If, during the first century infancy of the church, you'd asked a Christian if he was going to church, he'd wonder what you were talking about and probably tell you, 'I, and my fellow Christians, are the church'.

"I am writing this just as I've returned from the middle of the five Lent Wednesday 7pm to 7.30pm services at St Michael's. I was thrilled to listen to the 10 minute message on Jesus – our Saviour, and commend to you the final two in the series, on April 2nd and 9th.

"The 'Count your Blessings' Wednesday midday lunches continue til Easter in St Michael's Church hall. Today's menu (April 1st) is quiches with jacket potatoes and salad, then pick and mix puds. Next week there is fish pie or macaroni cheese plus tinned peaches and ice cream. Not bad for a fiver towards Christian Aid!"

Stephanie Loud said her husband found the picture slipped between the drawers in a cupboard unit in her shed at 8 Aning Road, previously owned by Charles and Florence Clarke.

She said the cupboard was old and dirty and she believed it had not been used by the previous owners for some time.

She posted the photo on social networking site Facebook but to no avail, adding: "I would love to return the photo to the owner as it must be precious"

If the photo belongs to you, please contact Mrs Loud at 8 Anning Road.

New volunteers welcome at trust meeting

LYME Regis Development Trust will be holding its annual general meeting on Tuesday, April 29th.

The meeting will be held at Unit 6 St Michael's Business Centre (in the new extension), with doors opening at 7pm for a 7.30pm start.

Following the main business of the meeting, the trust will be reporting on its main achievements during 2013 and there will be a chance to meet the trustees and learn about future plans.

As always, new volunteers will be given a very warm welcome, especially potential trustees. To find out more about volunteering, ask at the annual meeting or pick up a leaflet from St Michael's Business Centre listing possible activities to get involved with Another reader, Stuart Govier, has now written to the View with the following details on George Govier: "Great photo! I think this may be my cousin George A. Govier (four times removed) born in Lyme Regis about 1866. His Uncle Thomas (1809-1873) was my great-great-great grandfather.

Holiday, Respite or Long Term Care ROOMS AVAILABLE NOW

"Quality 24 hour care in a homely atmosphere"

Mayor making - or baiting!

ROM what I am led to believe we could be in for another lively session at tonight's council meeting. Get there early!

Main item on the agenda the appointment of mayor for the coming year.

Until a few days ago those who take an interest in council affairs (a dying breed) thought we would definitely be having a different, if not new, First Citizen.

Lyme Matters

by Philip Evans

Last year Councillor Chris Clipson was defeated on the casting vote of Sally Holman, who won a rare third year in succession. Would Councillor Clipson try his luck again? Then it emerged that Sally was considering a fourth year, which had only happened on one occasion before - back in the 1970s with Henry Broom serving for a similar period.

A former mayor once told me that the first year was enjoyable, the second year tolerable and a third "bloody awful".

Sally has certainly had a difficult year and has presided over the most controversial periods in the history of Lyme Regis Town Council. I think many of us assumed she would be relieved to relinquish the reins. But she clearly feels there is unfinished business.

Things were very different when I became mayor in the 1980s. The process of selecting a successor was a more friendly affair. The outgoing mayor would seek confirmation of those whom wanted to stand and then sound out the other members.

The mayor would then ask those with the lowest support to withdraw so that the appointment of the successor was invariably a happy and unanimous one. Then we all went for a drink!

It hasn't been like that for some time.

Sally will be challenged tonight by Michaela Ellis, who served as mayor for two years in 2009-2010.

Both have served the town well over the years but, whoever gets the job, they will surely be in for a rough ride as the current split council attempts to repair its poor public image before the elections in May 2015.

Broad Street's loooking swell

viewonline24/7

viewfromonline.co.uk

SOME glorious days have given us a taste of what we might expect in the coming summer months, I hope, and Lyme was teeming with visitors as soon as the sun poked its head out. Kids were actually playing in the sea on Sunday afternoon.

Broad Street is looking a lot smarter with the arrival of Seasalt, the Cornish-based clothing company, and other new arrivals, Lyme Gifts (which has moved from the Coombe Street Emporium) and the highy innovative Pug & Puffin.

The latter's owner, Martin Wiscombe, and I grew up just a few doors away from each other in Anning Road, and he has recently returned to his hometown after a glittering career in the art world.

I popped into Pug & Puffin with Francesca for a glass of fizz for the opening on Friday evening and was delighted to meet up with Martin's father, Dave, again, one of the area's most prolific bee keepers. Dave and I played football together yonks ago and he still keeps fit and well. I'm sure his son's new shop, with a distinct doggy flavour, will prove to be a huge hit with souvenir-hunting visitors.

I think all three new businesses enhance the shopping experience in Broad Street and I'm pleased to report that in the next few weeks we will be launching another series on Lyme's main street in the 1950s and 60s. Any photos from that era will be appreciated.

EVENT OF THE WEEK...

I ATTENDED my first Civic Night in the late 1960s when it was first introduced by Alderman Douglas Fortnam and his wife Lydia. It was a very grand affair and in those days called The Mayor's Ball. I remember wearing a Simon Dee roll-neck silk evening shirt and was a little concerned I would not be allowed in as they were very strict on the dress code in those days.

Surprisingly, I can't really remember my own Civic Night but as a former mayor I've always purchased tickets for this annual gathering of the town's civic and community leaders and have always enjoyed the occasion. Civic Nights are now much more relaxed and informal and dress codes have been all-but abandoned. There are conflicting opinions on whether that is a good thing or not. I stuck to tradition and wore a dinner jacket.

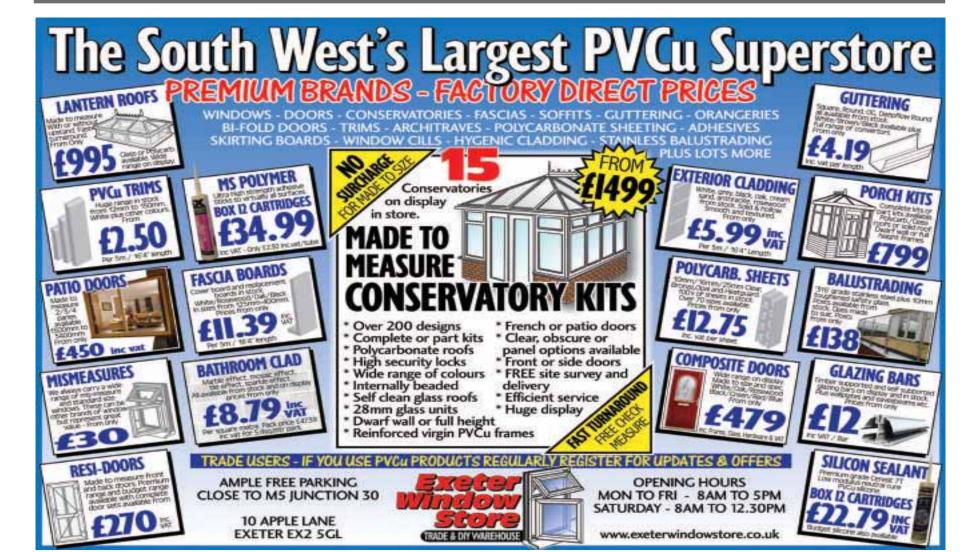

In past years all councillors made a special effort to attend Civic Night in support of the position of mayor rather than the personality wearing the chains. This, too, is very much a thing of the past.

With the council now irreparably split (they only have to tolerate each other for another year), only four councillors bought tickets for Saturday's event - Stan and Anita Williams, Michaela Ellis and Ann Bradbury.

The event clashed with the 50th wedding anniversary party of Councillor Lorna Jenkin and her husband Keith, attended by the gang of five (Councillors Gage, Campbell, Clipson, O'Grady and Austin) but not before they popped into the Woodmead Halls, much to the surprise of many, to shake the mayor's hand and have a quick drink before departing for what they considered to be the better gig in town.

But Lyme's organisations turned out in force, as they always do, making it another enjoyable evening for those who want to see such traditions preserved.

But for how long is anyone's guess.

Colourfence

the smart choice for long lasting, low maintenance fencing

Now Available Throughout Dorset and South Somerset

Experienced local business owners, Andy and Shelley Stewart, have launched Colourfence in Dorset and South Somerset. And that's great news for the area's homeowners who have become tired of all the costly and time-consuming maintenance that accompanies traditional timber fencing, which means we all get to spend less time maintaining our boundaries, and more time enjoying our gardens.

Colourfence is comparable in price to quality timber installations, although of course its unique low maintenance and durability means it will almost certainly work out cheaper in both time and money over the years.

Virtually maintenance free and designed to withstand harsh climates, Colourfence not only holds its colour for over 25 years it acts as a solid barrier, even against wind gusts of 130mph! The only maintenance your fence will require is an occasional wash down with water to keep it looking as good as new – so you never need to pick up that paintbrush again!

Colourfence is manufactured in Gloucestershire with all surveys and installations handled by a network of locally owned franchises. But, until the Stewarts became involved with the brand, nobody covered the South West - something that surprised Andy when he first came across the company.

"I was amazed Colourfence wasn't promoted in this area already, as there is clearly so much demand," he says. "We would certainly buy it ourselves; we have a garden and have spent too many afternoons with a paintbrush in hand. We've also spoken to friends and family who've recently had to repair or replace storm-damaged panels.

"Virtually no maintenance, coupled with its strength and durability make it the classic no brainer," he adds. "Moreover, the costs and guarantees means Colourfence is much better value than timber in the long term."

A timber fence needs maintaining – usually once a year. And that takes time. But even with the utmost care and attention, timber will age, spoil and need replacing. Colourfence, on the other hand, is made from innovative Colorbond steel and features an anti-corrosive coating that won't rust. The company also produces ColourRail matching railings or gates that are guaranteed not to corrode or flake for ten years.

With all its prices published on the website, Colourfence's customers know exactly what they pay. And that means they don't have to worry about negotiations or the hard-sell tactics that many home-improvement companies deploy, something Shelley Stewart says she wouldn't put their name to.

"Andy and I built and sold a franchise with a well-known home-improvement company, and we had a great reputation with the public," she says. "We always put a lot of emphasis on customer service, and were pleased to find Colourfence upholds those same standards."

Colourfence built its model on ethical trading, and features a number of customer testimonials on its website. The company has also collected a few accolades since landing on these shores, becoming a RHS Gold Award winner and being voted one of BBC Gardenings Top Ten products.

Lyme Letters | District Council should disappear quietly' to save some serious cash

Rinky Tinks an integral part of Lyme for thousands of visitors

■ LIKE many in Lyme Regis, I was saddened to see run the business (that is, if they still want to) but under the closure of Rinky Tinks (View From Lyme Regis, March 26th) but it is a symptom of all that is, to paraphrase Hamlet, "Rotten in the Town of Lyme".

I understand the duty of the town council to obtain the best price they can when renting property but the best price obtained is often obtained from the least sustainable business plan - and I wonder how financially astute the examiner of Rinky Tinks' business plan was.

Nevertheless, we are where we are now with the seafront losing an iconic part of its fixtures and fittings. I believe that there is value in the Rinky Tinks franchise - it is an integral part of Lyme to thousands of visitors and Lucinda's contribution to the carnival should not be underestimated.

I believe that Lucinda and Pete should continue to a revamped business plan that is this time mutually beneficial and realistic to both parties.

As for the outstanding amount of debt, whilst the town council has judgement to recover the debt either through corporate or individual insolvency proceedings, I would argue that it would be better to cancel further proceedings - write-off some of the debt (remember the Strawberry Field debacle, so this is not the first time that the council has lost money) and attempt to recover some of the outstanding amount through a process that is both good for the town and is sustainable for the business going forward.

Church Street, Lyme Regis

No one could have tried harder...

■ IT is with regret to read in your newspaper (View From Lyme Regis, March 26th) that Rinky Tinks has found itself in the situation that it is in.

No one could have tried harder to make a go of the small site on the parade.

I have, over the years, engaged with councils along the coast for concessions and know when you deal with a body that makes decisions, without personal liability, you walk into a minefield.

I do find it puzzling - if you tender and yours is the highest and your credentials are sound, then it should be yours. If three tenders are much the same, then the one that looks the best, i.e. experience, suitability, etc. should win. To be asked to re-tender until the council get the result they want is not tendering, it had become an auction. Having now got your concession, the best scenario is, for the first years the weather is favorable and the last season is the bad one, that way the council will feel sorry for you and no one else will want to tender for the coming

If the reverse takes place and you have suffered two years of little income then on the last season the weather is favorable and things are looking up, then the council will be looking for more rent and the public will think you have a gold mine and tender against you.

Consultation with children on new park will make them feel included

■ I READ with interest a letter in last week's paper (View From Lyme Regis. March 26th) from ex-councillor Jill Newton titled "Play park important for locals and visi-

I agree that the town has inadequate play facilities for children and young people - the improvement of this was one of the key reasons I first wanted to become a coun-

I do, however, find it odd that she would question the need to consult children in the development of a new play park. Most people involved in working with children and young people know that this is standard practice these days - long gone are the days of adults "knowing best" about what children want and I'm glad about that too.

When I was a young person, nothing irritated me more than an adult telling me what I should like or dislike - in fact, it probably made me resist their ideas even more.

Like any project there needs to be realistic limitations on what can be achieved but consultation should form part of the process - not only because funders usually require it but importantly, it gives the users ownership over the project and makes them feel included.

Ms Newton also says that if consultation is important. then the council ought first to consult with young people about the skatepark to see how many would use it. Perhaps if she had been involved in local affairs over the last few years she would have been aware of the thorough consultation undertaken in 2012 by LymeForward, Dorset Youth Services and Lyme Regis Town Council. This surveyed 663 young people from Lyme Regis and the surrounding area and 84 per cent said that they wanted a skatepark in Lyme and 47 per cent said they would use it. That's 313 local young people who would use a skatenark on skateboards, bikes, scooters or inline skates, not to mention the additional unknown number of young people from neighbouring towns and holiday makers who would use it... so it's hardly the "declining pastime" that she talks of.

She suggests that a few minutes on Google would prove this - I did a Google search and found quite the opposite; several websites talking of the sport's continued popularity, including a Daily Telegraph article dated 29/03/14 saying the "sport is rolling into its fifth era of mainstream popularity"

Lastly, I must correct her final statement where she says that "none of the companies approached to tender for the work is interested in doing it - after an extended deadline, we have tenders from two reputable skatepark companies, which will be considered at the full council meeting on Wednesday, April 2nd. Exciting times for young people I would say!

Family say thanks for 'swinging with Jim'

■ THE family of Jim Sweetland would like to thank everyone involved in the organisation and running of the memorial concert "Swing with Jim" to raise money for a defibrillator for the Woodmead Halls - the project Jim was working on when he suddenly passed away. A huge thank you to the Woodmead Halls, the Three Counties Swing Band, everyone who donated prizes for the raffle and food for the ploughman's - it made the evening a great success and it certainly went with a swing! Once again - thank you.

District council should 'disappear

ALL Fools' Day 1974 saw the creation of separate borough and district councils throughout Dorset.

Forty years on, some of these occasionally hilarious bodies are now considering working in partnership.

Such an arrangement would, we're told, produce economies of scale and provide services more efficiently. West Dirset District Council (WDDC) and Weymouth & Portland Borough Council's (WPBC) shared services have, we're told, already saved £3million.

So, shouldn't council taxpayers be laughing happily at the prospect of better value for their money? Consider

The top priority for any bureaucracy is to ensure its own survival. Be sure that this mooted collaborative tinkering will primarily benefit the councils themselves, not us. Even trivial savings will help to distract from the real £3million, though welcome, is a mere chuckle compared with what might have been. Accountancy firm Deloitte estimated in 2007 that Dorset as a unitary authority could save £20million, every year, in back office savings alone. But then, while several other counties bid successfully for unitary status, Dorset didn't even try. And now they talk about saving us money.

And set that £3million against the simultaneous service cuts and, of course, the millions still being lavished on WDDC's grandiose flagship project in central Dorchester.

The formation of the Dorset Waste Partnership and the sharing - albeit piecemeal - of services by WDDC and WPBC are, in effect, a tacit admission that these separate bodies are unnecessary, unfit for purpose and poor value for money. Their continued existence is increasingly difficult to justify.

Eighty-five per cent of my council tax bill is split between the county (68 per cent), town (10 per cent) and district (seven per cent) councils, each with its own administration, premises, staff and councillors, and its own portfolio of services. But does any taxpayer truly care who does what, as long as it gets done?

Which of these three levels of government could we easily live without? Come on, district and borough councils! Reallocate your little portfolio between county and town and disappear quietly, saving us some serious money and giving us all something to really smile about. And the sooner the better.

Until then, we taxpayers are being treated as fools.

Hopes that Community Land Trust can move forward for local people

■ SOME people have suggested to me that writing letters to newspapers is a waste of time; others have said

But after promising in a letter to share thoughts about the Community Land Trust (CLT) in ways that would hopefully encourage discussion ("What are we all in together?", View from Lyme Regis, March 19th) I got what I thought was a very positive result.

Keith Jenkin hailed me in Coombe Street and we had a courteous, robust, honest and amicable discussion for perhaps as much as 10 minutes. Of course, some may suggest I could have had that conversation without having written a letter but I doubt it would have been as detailed or as (hopefully) productive.

Chris Boothroyd had explained in his recent column that Keith is an interim director of the Community Land Trust, which he added was "a registered company accountable to the Lyme community" (View from Lyme Regis, March 12th). There's quite a bit I would still like to learn about the details of that organisational set-up, but here are some of the things that I did learn...

Keith was very clear that they "report to the elected authority" (Lyme Regis Town Council) and are independent of both LymeForward and Lyme Regis Development Trust (LRDT). There's a lot in that to welcome. For example, the CLT could find themselves competing for land with LRDT, who have linked their putative study centre with several locations over the years.

It will also allow the CLT to demonstrate over time that it is unequivocally working for affordable housing for local people, and is not having to make internal compromises with any other aspirations of its own.

It's inevitable that there will be negotiations and compromises ahead but the people of Lyme need to know that there is someone clearly battling for housing, housing, housing, and would be justified in expecting, at the very least, for the issues behind such negotiations to be aired publicly in ways they can join in.

Keith and I spoke about the complexities of making such debate possible when large-scale commercial transactions have to be kept confidential until they are completed. We also spoke about how trying to build affordable housing in Lyme is a bit like trying to get a job - unless you are very, very lucky, there's a lot of disappointment and setbacks before you achieve success.

Another difficulty seems to have come out of what feellike public fatigue with open meetings and consultation after their proliferation here over the last decade

Keith confirmed that the CLT has held such meetings but very few people have turned up. He shared his view that the CLT needed to engage with people better, adding

I agree on both counts. But there's a lot that can be done in addition to announcing meetings and hoping

I'd be happy to meet with Keith or any other CLT person to illustrate with concrete examples what I mean when I suggest the following: person-by-person community work, an organisational structure that allows people to get closely involved as advocates and monitors without being tied by confidentialities, encouraging open town council debates on non-confidential topics so that councillors can consistently and repeatedly show their enthusiasm and concern, imaginative public meetings that aren't dominated by one or two individuals and that are imaginatively marketed, starting small, moving forward a step at a time, thinking big.

I hope my writing about the CLT, its essential cause and the complexities it faces can help it move forward.

It's also important to remember that, if "accountability to the community" is to mean anything, it has to be explained to the widest possible community not only how CLT officers will give the public and its representatives an account of what it is doing, but also how the public and its representatives can hold them collectively and individually to account

Boris's recent words on Benn are worth bearing in mind: "He was a great democrat - even if his economic policies were eccentric. He once told me the key guestion to ask anyone in power: Who elected you - and how can I vote to remove you from office?"

Our CLT officers have taken on a lot of responsibility in an area that will involve a lot of money, if - when - it is successful, and with responsibility and money always comes power. So who is the hiring/firing authority? Has a press release been issued on that yet?

Our draught proofing will save much of the 15% of heat lost from homes by draughts. Sash windows can also be refurbished and draught proofed using English Heritage recommended techniques.

Our acrylic secondary glazing nearly halves heat loss of single glazed windows at a fraction of the cost of double glazing. At the same time, noise will be reduced. We can also paint the secondary glazing to match existing paint work making the system even more discrete.

Our insulation of solid walls can cut much of the 35% of heat that is lost through walls.

The Ropewalk Fair

A celebration of Bridport's Rope and Net Industry

THIS spring local organisations, employers and volunteers are joining forces to hold Bridport's first ever event celebrating its rope making heritage and net making future.

Bridport's place in the landscape and the layout of its streets and long gardens lay testament to its rope making heritage. Today, its net makers are still are the forefront of design, production and innovation; the Bridport name is linked with nets from Wembley to Wimbledon, aviation and defence to children's play

The Ropewalk Fair will be a community event that will, over the weekend of May 10th-11th , host a whole range of activities including sporting challenges, heritage walks, lively talks and discussions, skill sharing, live music and much, much more.

Saturday will revolve around talks, walks, music and exhibitions in the town, whilst Sunday will be the main event ~ a family fair with lots of stalls, activities and food, all themed around rope and net - form a team for the tug of war, try your hand at spinning rope or trace your family's rope-making past.

Organisers are keen to rope in as many people as possible to get involved with the weekend and build up. So if you have an idea for a stall, game or activity based on the Fair's rope and net theme or would like to become an event sponsor, then they'd love to hear it will remain unopened and unseen until the exhibition. The unfolding process will be docu-

Semi detached property needing sympathetic modernisation

A SEMI-DETACHED three bedroom cottage needing sympathetic modernisation and offering much character. The property, which has gardens and paddock of circa one and a half acres, has a number of workshops which could easily offer extension possibilities.

Pitts Farm is believed to date back to 1760 and is one of Corscombe's most historic properties. We are informed it was one of the village's old pubs and bakeries. The character features include beamed ceilings and timber flooring, open fireplaces, wonderful flagstone floors particularly in the outbuildings, attractive low ceilings on the ground floor and much more.

The property has the benefit of LPG central heating, and as previously mentioned offers huge extension possibilities particularly with the three large workshops which are attached to the main house.

One of the real features of this property is not only the good sized gardens within which it stands, but also the significant parking for 8 - 10 vehicles and double garage.

The village of Corscombe is situated off the A356 Crewkerne to Dorchester road. Corscombe has a thriving community with a church, village hall, playgroup and playground and "The Fox" public house.

The picturesque small town of Beaminster is within 5 miles. It offers many facilities, including a good range of shops, churches, post office, library, two schools, health centre, dentist, other professional services and many social and sporting activities. This property has good sized lawned gardens and also a really useful paddock. Flower beds and borders. LPG gas tank, a number of conifer trees, timber Workshop etc.

According to Promap, these gardens extend to approximately 1.52 acres, however if land is specifically important to you, it is imperative that you or your legal advisers undertake the necessary investigations as Symonds and Sampson cannot be held responsible for a third party's information.

There is a small area of shared driveway to the side of the property which leads to a large area of parking for 8 - 10 vehicles which in turn leads to a Detached Double Garage with up and over doors.

Services: LPG central heating. Mains drainage and water.

This properties guide price is £425,000.

For more information please call Symonds and Sampson on 01308 863100 or visit www.symondsand sampson.co.uk

Glass Ceiling broken at Symonds & Sampson

SYMONDS & Sampson are delighted to announce the promotion, from 1 April, of Rachael James to a Partner at the firm.

Senior Partner Andrew Robinson says, "We are very pleased that Rachael has accepted the invitation. She will be the first lady to have become a partner at Symonds & Sampson in our 155 year history. As Head of our Lettings Agency Rachael has shown terrific drive and ingenuity and, with fresh ideas, this department has become an extremely important part of the firm. We anticipate that Symonds & Sampson will grow in the next few years and Rachael will be very much part of the decision making process to ensure that our clients receive the very best advice and service for all of their property needs."

Rachael James says, "It is a great honour and privilege to be invited into the Partnership and my appointment reflects the hard work and dedication that the whole of the lettings team have achieved. We have lettings offices in Dorchester, Blandford, Salisbury, Sturminster Newton, Yeovil, Bridport and Axminster and every year the portfolio that we manage on behalf of our clients increases dramatically. I firmly believe that the professional attitude, all of our main lettings staff are ARLA qualified and the attention to detail puts us well above any other firm in the region whilst the London Office is a significant contributor to our success in letting some of the larger roperties.

"I may be the first woman to become a Partner but, now that the glass ceiling has been broken, I am sure that I will not be the last!"

For further details on how Symonds & Sampson's Lettings Agency can help you, please telephone Rachael James on 01258 458473.

Thinking of Selling or Letting Your Property?

If you are looking for personal service and advice from an experienced professional, independent, local estate agent, then look no further.

Established in 2006, with over 20 years of personal property experience and working from a private office, on the outskirts of Bridport, I am able to offer a bespoke personal service to discerning local clients, without charging over the top prices.

Like the Insurance, Travel, Music, Literary and many other industries, the Housing industry has changed beyond recognition in the last few years, to the point where the High Street office has become a unnecessary expense. Quality advice and personal service will always be in demand and we would like to extend it to you.

Our clients receive the best advice and our market leading fee structure ensures that you will pay a fraction of the fees normally payable in the High Street, with no reduction in the level of service.

Budget 2014: Property Sharing Experts view the Property Sharing Experts network of nearly 80 estate agency offices throughout the South comments on Budget 2014, which was announced by Chancellor George Osborne on 19th March.

While Budget 2014 revealed nothing particularly spectacular or shocking for the property industry, there were some interesting points. Probably the most substantial factor to affect the market, predominantly in London, is the change in Stamp Duty for 'corporate' purchasers, who now have to pay the 15% tax on homes costing over £500,000 - a figure which was previously £2m. Reportedly, agents in the capital had a few manic hours trying to get deals pushed through or re-negotiated in the short timeframe between the announcement and its implementation at midnight on Wednesday. More significant for us the extension of the Help to Buy scheme for new homes, until 2020. This will only bolster confidence in the market and encourage developers to build more homes, which will go some way towards helping ease the housing shortage.

Meanwhile, the continuing low interest rates are helping buyers get onto and move up the housing ladder. We are seeing increasing numbers of buyers from the South East looking to release the capital in their homes and move to the Westcountry – a pattern that is likely to continue

It would have been nice to see Stamp Duty thresholds change, particularly the 3% at £250,000, which is now affecting many very ordinary properties. It would have made a considerable difference to the market if this had been increased to say, £300,000 and we hope this will be considered in the future.

Aside of the property market, it's fantastic that the Government plans to spend an extra £140m on flood defence repairs and maintenance. And it's great that it has made avail-if this might just be a drop in the ocean!

Other welcome news is that of an increase in the earnings amount to £10,500 before paying Income Tax and the abolition of a rise in fuel which duty, planned for September. I'm looking forward to seeing the new 12-sided £1 coin - sounds interesting!

To contact your nearest office, please call Fortnam Smith and Banwell Lyme Regis on 01297 445666 or Charmouth on 01297 560945 or can visit www.fsb4homes.com.

Spring Finance Offers From Suzuki

SUZUKI has chosen to put a spring in car buyers' steps with Alto, Splash, Swift and SX4 available under the brand's highly successful VAT-free campaign; which will run until the end of June.

The popular Alto SZ model will continue to be available from £5,999 which represents a £1,200 customer saving on list price. Splash 1.0-litre SZ2 is available from £7,999, Swift 1.2 SZ2 three door at £8,999 and the SX4 1.6 SZ3 available for Suzuki is also continuing its flexible PCP (Personal Contract Purchase) offers until the end of June. Alto SZ is available for a deposit of £869 followed by 1 payment of £125 then 41 monthly payments of £99 with the option to pay a final balloon payment of £2,235 at the end of the agreement to keep the car.

Alto offers very low cost of ownership with no annual road tax to pay thanks to emissions of 99g/km, combined fuel consumption of 65.7mpg and an insurance group rating of 4E.

Moving up the small car range to the Splash SZ2 1.0-litre, the latest PCP offer requires a low deposit of £929 followed by 48 monthly payments of £125 and an optional final payment of

The good news also continues for Swift buyers; as an example, the SZ2 three door at £8,999 remains available for a deposit of only £156 followed by 42 monthly payments of £156 and an optional final payment of £3,683. The PCP offers include the latest model Swift 1.3 DDiS which has CO2 emissions of just 101g/km and offers 72.4mpg on the combined cycle.

At the top of the Swift range, the recently enhanced, award winning 1.6-litre Sport three door is newly included in the low rate Driveplan PCP offer requiring a deposit of £1,999 followed by 42 monthly payments of £199.

The SX4 S-Cross range is available from £14,999 and there are a range of finance options to help buyers find a payment option that suits them; including a new enhancement on Driveplan PCP making all DDiS models available for the same deposit and monthly payment as an equivalent petrol version.

Taking the 1.6 petrol SZ3 model as an example with its high standard specification of seven airbags, cruise control with speed limiter, air conditioning, 16-inch alloy wheels and Daytime Running Lights, Suzuki is offering a low rate PCP of 4.9% APR with £2,999 deposit, 42 monthly payments of £185 and optional balloon pay-

Move up the range to the SZ4 with Dual Zone automatic air conditioning, Bluetooth connectivity, front fog lamps and rear privacy glass as standard and payments are just £10 per month extra over the same term.

Since launch in October 2013, over 50% of S-Cross sales have been the range-topping SZ5 model; and there are some competitive PCP options for those customers too. A good example is the 1.6 SZ5 manual; which is available for £239 for 42 months with a deposit of £4,049 and bal-

For customers wishing to take the Personal Contract Hire option, S-Cross SZ-T is available for 41 monthly payments of £179 with an initial payment of £1074.

Forty Years Young: Volkswagen Golf stands the test of time

▲ Golf GTI Mk I and VII

VOLKSWAGEN is celebrating the 40th birthday of the most successful European car of all time: the Golf. More than 30 million vehicles of the best-seller have been sold and from the first to the seventh generation, the Golf has been a pioneer of technological progress.

Whether turbocharged engine, direct-injection engine, electric or plug-in hybrid drive system; whether ABS, ESC, XDS or 4MOTION; whether Adaptive Cruise Control, City Emergency Braking, trailer stabilisation or Automatic Post-Collision Braking System; whether automatic air conditioning, Dynaudio sound system, touchscreen with proximity sensor or LED headlights; whether GTI, GTD or GTE – it was always the Golf through which the most important technologies and trends of our time were democratised.

Golf Mk I: The first series production Golf rolled off the assembly line in Wolfsburg on 29 March 1974. Where for decades the Beetle and thus rear-mounted engines and rear-wheel drive had dominated the scene, a new era had now dawned: that of the transversely mounted front engine and front-wheel drive. As the successor to the legendary Beetle, of which over 21.5 million units were built, the Golf Mk I, designed by Giorgio Giugiaro and Volkswagen Design, had to live up to the immense expectations that it would carry on the success story of what until then was the world's most successful car. It worked: the modern and reliable drive concept, the excellent spatial economy and ultimately the design as well, won over the market to such an extent that by October 1976 the one-millionth Golf had been produced.

In launching the first Golf GTI (in 1976), Volkswagen heralded the introduction of greater dynamism in this class, while the Golf D (naturally aspirated diesel engine, 1976) and the later Golf GTD (turbodiesel, 1982) marked the breakthrough for diesel cars in the compact segment. With the Golf Cabriolet, introduced in 1979, Volkswagen launched an open-top car that was at times the best-selling cabrio in the world.

Golf Mk II: As of August 1983, passengers no longer sat quite so close to each other, as use of space have been improved once more. It was then on the Golf that the regulated catalytic converter was introduced (1984), anti-lock braking system (ABS, 1986) and power-steering to the lower medium class. In 1986, syncro was introduced, opening up the option of all-wheel drive in the Golf class.

Golf Mk III: With the launch of the third generation Golf in August 1991, Volkswagen heralded a new era of safety. This Golf was the first of the series to have front airbags, starting in 1992, while major advances in the area of car body construction also resulted in significantly improved crash safety. In addition, numerous other technological milestones of the model range are linked to the third Golf. Many new features made their debut in this new Golf: the first six cylinder engine (VR6), cruise control, oxidation catalytic converter for diesel engines (1991) and the first direct injection diesel engines (TDI in 1993). Likewise, ABS became a standard feature on all Golf models in 1996. In 1993, Volkswagen had also introduced a new convertible based on the Golf Mk III, a new all-wheel drive model (syncro II) and the first Golf Variant (an estate).

Golf Mk IV: Under the direction of Hartmut Warkuß, then Head of Design at Volkswagen (Group), the Golf Mk IV crystallised the clear, precise design that lived up to the history of the Volkswagen brand more than ever before while setting its course to the future. With the debut of ESC (in 1998), the car continued to democratise safety. Also in 1998, Volkswagen unveiled the first all-wheel-drive Golf with a Haldex clutch – the Golf 4MOTION. One year later, ESC became a standard feature, initially in Germany.

The first direct-injection engine (FSI) and the debut of the standard head airbag (window airbags) followed in 2002. Also in 2002, Volkswagen launched the R32, with a top speed of 250 km/h (155 mph). It was this top model of the range that in 2003 was the first to debut with the revolutionary dual-clutch gearbox (DSG).

Golf Mk V: This was the Golf that boasted levels of comfort and dynamic performance that left many competitors way behind in 2003. The same went for the car's security features. One factor that underlines the stability of the laser-welded bodywork was the 35 per cent increase in torsional rigidity demonstrated when the Golf Mk V made its debut in 2003. On request, the Golf was now also available for the first time with side airbags – together with the six standard airbags (front, side front and window) there were thus eight protective air buffers on board. In comfort as well as dynamic performance, the Golf Mkl V scored in numerous areas, including: its new four-link rear suspension, seven-speed DSG, bi-xenon headlights, panoramic sliding sunroof, plus the world's first twincharger (in the 2006 TSI), combining turbo- and supercharger. In 2006, the Golf Plus made its debut; in 2007, the CrossGolf, a new Estate and the extremely fuel-efficient Golf BlueMotion (4.5 I/100 km or 62.8 mpg).

Golf Mk VI: In just four years, a further 2.85 million Golf cars had been produced by the end of July 2012, based on the sixth generation of the car launched in 2008. And once again safety made great advances too: the car body was so rugged that it passed the EuroNCAP crash test with flying colours, gaining the maximum five stars. Meanwhile, more TSI engines and a transition among the turbodiesel engines (TDI) from unit injection to the common rail system resulted in greater dynamic performance and lower fuel consumption. A top performer here was the second Golf BlueMotion with a combined fuel consumption of just 3.8 I/100 km (74.3 mpg), equivalent to 99 g/km of CO2. New assistance systems, such as Light Assist automatic main beam management and Park Assist, made the sixth generation the most advanced Golf to date.

Golf Mk VII: On 4 September 2012, Volkswagen celebrated the world premiere of the seventh generation Golf. The weight of the new Golf was reduced by up to 100 kg, thereby reversing the often cited upward weight spiral. Fuel economy was hence also improved by up to 23 per cent. The new Golf TDI BlueMotion consumes only 3.2 l/100 km (88.3 mpg) (equivalent to 85 g/km of CO2) under standard NEDC conditions. In addition, Volkswagen has equipped the Golf with an entire armada of new assistance systems - some as options and others as standard. In 2014, Volkswagen electrifies the compact class with the Golf: the all-electric e-Golf with a range of around 190 kilometres is already available to buy. In addition, the new Golf GTE will be launched in autumn. Its plug-in hybrid drive system achieves a standard fuel consumption of 1.5 I/100 km; in all-electric mode, the Golf GTE can be driven for 50 kilometres.

The Golf is the most successful model ever built by Volkswagen. In the summer of 2013 the 30 millionth Golf was built.

A YOUTHFUL Beaminster Reserves' line-up including five under 18s survived a Forton fightback to bag all three points at the Memorial Ground.

The hosts led 2-0 at the break only for Justin James and an OG to square things up at 2-2.

But the Rainbows went up a gear to keep their hopes of beating the drop alive with a second-half trio.

Jonah Ayunga (3, 1pen) and Charlie Bartlett netted for Beaminster.

Lyme Regis Res 3 Barrington 1

LYME Reserves' third consecutive 3-1 win has lifted them to second place in the Division One table and to within six points of favourites South Petherton with three games in hand.

The Seasiders took the lead in the second minute when Jack Durrent's crisp drive was half saved by Barrington's experienced stopper Mike Cullen but still bounced up into the net.

Top-scorer Pete Peacock went close in the 20th minute when he got on the end of teammate Danny Thirwell's header but could only divert the ball over the bar with a clever back heel.

Peacock missed a good chance to double the lead on the stroke of half-tiem when Cullen saved well in a oneon-one opportunity.

But the parity only lasted five minutes.

No complaints as Ressies suffer spot kick agony

Hamworthy Rec 1 Bridport Reserves 0

HOCKEY

BEES manager Robin Townsend had no complaints about the penalty decision that saw his makeshift side suffer defeat at fourth placed Hamworthy Rec on Saturday.

"I have no complaints, it was a stonewall penalty. Billy Fleet produced a great reaction save, probably his best save of the season earlier to keep us in the game, unfortunately misjudged it when he rushed out and caught their player with his feet."

With so many absentees again, Townsend was grateful for the help of Will Gape and Dan Peart from Dorchester as well as Adam Stordy and Ryan Gall called up from the Thirds, and in the circumstances played a uncharacteristic 4-5-1 formation.

"I like to play attacking football, but with the options felt it best to try and stay in the game as long as we could:

The plan worked with the Bees frustrating Rec to a couple of half chance to go in goalless at the break, and even when they went behind in the second half they maintained their shape.

"Ash Clarke and Sam Day were excellent at the back, and in one way I thought we deserved a point in the end for just how we defended so well."

Double celebration for Hawks as both teams gain promotion

WEST Dorset Hawks were celebrating a double success at the weekend with the first team winning the Davis Wood South East 1 title and the A team being promoted as runners-up in the South East 3 league.

The Beaminster Ladies whilst not gaining promotion will also look back on a successful campaign after finishing third in the West Clubs Women's Channel Division 1.

Both of the men's team went into the last game of the season with slightly different objectives.

The first team had already won promotion the week before, but needed at least a point against lowly Taunton Vale C to ensure Bridgwater A didn't snatch the title on goal difference.

Despite being a goal down in the first minutes, they held their nerve and came through to win 5-1. In the end however it was academic, as Bridgwater A were beaten 5-3 by Shepton Mallett A and although Sidmouth & Ottery B won to take the other promotion slot they were five points behind Hawks.

For the A team it was a much harder task. With Bridgwater C already confirmed as champions and Hawks and ECV Hornets C locked on exactly the same number of points and goal difference, it meant Saturday's results would decide who won

The Hornets won 4-2 against Yeovil & Sherborne C, but the Hawks bettered that beating Chard B and take the runners-

West Dorset Hawks 5 Taunton Vale C 1

BRIDPORT based West Dorset suffered a few early jitters at the start and went behind inside five minutes. However they soon found the form that they had shown all season, despite striker Russell Coombes suffering from a recurring hamstring problem moments after the start of the game.

The midfield duo of Dan Wyatt and Rick Dormor started to put their weight around the field and conduct some good passing and were always a hassling any attacks that Taunton Vale could muster, whilst Steve Mearing up front alongside Coombes, had several threatening runs but good goalkeep ing and near misses meant he was unable to convert any of Eventually the endless pressure on the visiting defence told when right half Rick Steele smashed an excellent ball into Vale's penalty spot where Mearing was quick to deflect it deflected into goal.

Alex Davis continued his dominance over his opposing number in the second half, always looking threatning down the left flank, and his efforts were rewarded when he converted a short corner using an old, but well drilled routine. West Dorset continued to apply the pressure, whilst defenders Julian May, Charlie Davis, Lee Connelly, and Robin Goodfellow kept any threat at bay with some excellent tackling and great anticipation of the game.

In the final quarter Taunton started to crack, and Hawks scored three more. Dan Wyatt scored a great goal into the roof of the net, before Mearing dribbled past three defenders to slide a ball beyond the keeper for his second goal, whilst Coombes efforts up front were rewarded with a superbly taken deflect into the back of the net.

Skipper Dormer said: "Special thanks needs to go to our goalie Tom Lowe, who has had his best ever season and to several players that could not make the game but have been influential in the West Dorset's success this season, namely Gavin Brooking, Mike Thompson, Jim Bowditch, Simon Wakely, Richard Pewsey, Matt Caton and George Baker.

"West Dorset has had an excellent season and will look forward to building on this year's success in the division above."

Chard B 1 West Dorset Hawks A 5

WEST Dorset A travelled to fourth placed Chard B for their final game of the season knowing that second place and promotion were up for grabs.

Hawks started brightly, going 2-0 up within the first 10 minutes with goals from Rich Wilson and John Kellas. Wilson converted a fine cross with a flick at the far post before Kellas scored with a superb individual effort; beating a couple of Chard defenders before firing past the keeper.

Chard have a good home record and created chances themselves, the best of which was a goal bound shot following a short corner which was cleared off the line by Henry

There was no addition to the score by halftime although a number of players from both sides had been issued green warning cards for persistent fouls as the atmosphere became

George Baker increased West Dorset's lead early in the second half when he skilfully quided in Wilson hard shot, but Chard reduced the arrears following a poor defensive clearance gave the home player an easy opportunity.

The visitors quickly restored their three goal lead when Mike Thompson scored from the edge of the area, before Chard were reduced to ten when a player was yellow carded for petulantly kicking a West Dorset player's stick away.

However they still posed a threat and it needed another goal line clearance from Middleton to maintain the Hawks lead. Baker was then sent off for fouling a Chard attacker after he had already received a warning to reduce Hawks to ten men, but despite this they still created the better chances and it was no surprise when Kellas scored his second goal of the game to bring his season's tally to a very impressive 40 goals.

West Dorset then had to endure a nail biting three hour wait until news filtered through that Hornets had only beaten Yeovil 4-2, securing West Dorset's promotion.

Skipper Middleton said: "It's been a wonderful season and everyone has played their part, but I would say the success was down to us being very solid and consistent in defence; conceding only 20 goals in 22 games and the prolific scoring of John Kellas up front."

Blandford & Sturminster Newton 2nd 0 Beaminster 1

HANNAH Dale secured the goal that ensured Beaminster the third spot they have held for most of the season. Blandford have been following closely in the wake of Beaminster all season, but defeat at lowly Wimborne Wayfarers and being held to a draw by Yeovil & Sherborne 3rds in their last two matches meant their hosts could have pipped them for third although Beaminster's much superior goal difference would have meant if had to be by large score.

Dorset Funeral Plan to continue cricket sponsorship

DORSET cricket will continue to be sponsored again with the announcement that Dorset Funeral Plan is to back the county's cricket league for the eighth season in a row.

The plan, run by Douch Family Funeral Directors, has become synonymous with the eight Saturday leagues played by nearly 50 clubs across Dorset, many of which have more than one side.

Each month throughout the season there will be a "team of the month" award; the winners receiving a trophy, indi-vidual medals and a bottle of bubbly.

The deal will also provide end-of-season awards that will include awards for the best groundsperson, individual achievement award team also the Jack Douch Award for cricket in the community, which was presented last season for the first time.

Jack was well known in cricket circles around Dorset and was the grandfather of Nick Douch, the current managing director of Douch Family Funeral Directors.

The Dorset Funeral Plan Cricket League chairman John Ridout said they were delighted to continue with the sponsorship.

"The league covers the whole of the county and is known by everyone as the Dorset Funeral Plan League.

'This year we have two Premier leagues – 1 and 2 – with the leagues below are now known as county leagues. The new structure is aimed at getting the better players to compete against each other more often.

Nick Douch said: "The Dorset Funeral Plan has been the league sponsor for a number of years and our profile has certainly been raised because of it.

BRIDPORT RUGBY

Blues outgunned by North Dorset seconds

BRIDPORT 5 NORTH DORSET II 53

IT was a bad day at the office for the Blues at the Brewery Ground on Saturday. North Dorset opened the scoring early with a blistering run from their left wing who brushed off four ineffectual tackles to score in the

A difficult conversion got the scoreboard ticking over at 0-7. Bridport were able to respond with a classy unconverted try from the base of their solid scrum by the ever-reliable Mike Pibworth.

That was pretty much it for Bridport. They were contained in their half by muscular North Dorset forward power repeatedly winning ball for their keen back line who released determined runners to cross the whitewash four more times before halftime for a 27-5 lead. Bridport just did not have an answer to the North Dorset Green Machine format of power and speed, and an uncomfortable second half beckoned.

After the turnaround the visitors continued where they had left off. Bridport be came observers of the game more than participants.

Too often their meagre and hard-earned possession was lost in breakdown contact and aimless kicking. Their efficient scrummage technique was their only face-saving grace.

The visitors scored four more tries in a second half which was disrupted by a number of injury stoppages, but there were no excuses, and despite the Blues being outgunned by a better and more intense side they battled to the final whistle.

The final match of the season will be at home against Frome on April 12th when it is hoped the injury list will have shortened.

The Blues second team lost 29-5 at Blandford. This was their final game of the season and the final game ever for their 53-yearold skipper Wayne Munro. He will take up the whistle next season who will take up refereeing next season.

WEYMOUTH 15 BRIDPORT 62

BRIDPORT under 13s travelled along the coast road on the first day of summer to play a rejuvenated Weymouth side that hadn't played for the last couple of seasons.

The hosts only had thirteen, and special mention to Blues players Toby Corren and Gibbons, who guested for the Seasiders in the first and second half respectively to even the sides at 14 apiece.

The young Blues, who had came up against a strong Sidmouth side the week before, found themselves the stronger team this time, and the lessons learned in Devon the week before served the Bridport youngsters well in this match.

Bridport scored two quick tries from the start but went to sleep allowing Weymouth to score. This served as a wake-up call for Bridport who, with encouragement, started to contest more positively in the loose play, which paid dividends.

Tries from Toby Taylor, Guy Brazier and Alex Phillips with the extras added by Joe O'Hagan ensured that the Bridport Under 13s ran out deserved winners.

Bridport's strength in the scrum created a firm platform from which attacking plays could be made with forwards and backs inter-linking well. All round there was a determined attitude in this performance which the young Blues will carry forward when they visit Wimborne next week.

UNDER 12s

BRIDPORT 45 LYCHETT MINSTER 30

WITH Bridport plagued by injuries this was a 12-a-side match. Bridport started the strongest, pushing hard and scoring four tries within the first seven minutes through Joe Elsworth and Josh Golding.

Despite the good play, Lychett took advantage of some Bridport mistakes to score two of their own in quick succession for a halftime score of 20-10 in the Blues favour.

Some of the tackles from the Bridport squad were excellent, especially from Joe Elsworth, Eddie Gale and new player Felix

After the break both teams were rejuvenated and attacked and defended very well, with some great runs from Bridport's Henry Wyrill, Corbin and Ollie Blackburn

With the Blues working well as a team and moving the ball across the pitch, they scored further tries through Elsworth, Gold ing, Gale and Thompson.

Another great performance from a young dynamic side.

BRIDPORT 112 LYTCHETT MINISTER 14

THIS was a Bridport performance that honoured Mothers Day as the boys work hard to end the season in the right way, on a their game, as Callum Fowler, Ryan Phillips, Oliver Wills and man of the match Charlie Taylor carried the ball with dynamic crashing runs through the visiting defence, scoring try after

This was an all round performance that included a strong defence as Lytchett Minister had good strong runners, but they weren't allowed any space before the tackles came in and Bridport forwards swallowed up the ruck ball to set up another attack.

From the forward domination the call came out from the coaches on the side line to spin the ball out to the wide, allowing a team effort to reap the rewards with four more tries coming from the backs, to end a great final match of the season.

Phillips scored seven tries and Wills bagged four, with Taylor, Reuben Jolliffe, George Amos, Lewis Ali and Taleor Hopgood all scoring one, with a special mention to our goal kicker Jolliffe who converted all 16 conversions.

HAVING been given solemn assurances that all the players had organised gifts for all those mothers without whom the players could not operate, let alone arrive on time, the

Unfortunately Lychett suffered from a shortage of players, due to the clocks going forward, and with Bridport's U9s having arrived en-masse, sides were selected, mixing both age groups, and four hard competitive fifteen minute games were played.

Do not think that under nine means gentle no contact rugby; these boys can show their elders a thing or two, especially about tackling which is now done on a regular basis, and even big players are being brought down by lighter boys.

U9 Fred Underhay together with Archie Smith, Peter Mullany and captain Tegan Furner scored tries in the initial two close games, in which Jack Tozer operated superbly at scrum-

Changes were made to give everyone at least two games, with Araminta May selected captain and scrumhalf, a joint duty she performed admirably with intelligence and ball winning skills. Tries by Thomas Craven, Will Smith, George Found, and speed merchant Toby Gale rounded off a day where the coaches at last saw rewards for all those training sessions.

So, the last game of the season! Next term, five man scrums and twelve-a-side. Bridport now have the players; will they have the "get up and

UNDER 7s & 8s

WITH a cancelled fixture against Lychett Minster, the Under 7s and 8s combined for a three match tournament to end the season with some fun in glorious weather, whereby the 'Chiefs' took on the 'Tigers' over three 14 minute matches.

To encourage teamwork, tries scored by the U7s were worth extra points. The Chiefs took advantage of the special scoring, using their younger players to good effect in the first two matches. The Tigers roared back in the third game, with fine running and strong tactics bringing their whole team into the game.

The day ended with awards for the top try scorers on the day: Maisy Herbert and Kieran Coombs in the U7 category, and Henry Everitt and Charlie Brake taking the honours in the U8s. Well done to everyone on a fantastic

A great end to a strong season for the youngest age group at Bridport RFC with 17 players regularly turning out; a positive outlook for the future of the club. Thanks to all the players and parents for their support.

INSIDE: Comprehensive local sport round-up

On course for 3 titles

LYME Regis 1st team embark on one of their toughest run-ins to the end of a season tomorrow (Thursday) when they play host to Perry Street Premier Division champions Winsham (kick-off 6.15 pm).

The champions are a vastly different team than last season, having lost key players, and are firmly entrenched at the bottom of the table with just one point from their 17 games.

This fixture is the start of an hectic 37 days for the Seasiders in which they have to play 13 league games plus a Dorset Intermediate Cup final.

The Seasiders have played only seven league games following one of the wettest winters on records and have until May 10th to finish their fixtures.

The leagues in Dorset and Devon have both extended the season to accommodate their fixture backlog but so far the Perry Street League

by Philip Evans philip@pemedia.co.uk

has declined to do so. Lyme are currently lying in sixth place with 19 points. Crewkerne Town are leading the division with 32 points from 14 games so Lyme are well placed to challenge for the title if they win all their catch-up games.

Worst performance

The Seasiders should have no problem dispensing with Winsham tomorrow but Saturday's home fixture against leaders Crewkerne will be another matter. Lyme put in the worst performance of the season recently when Crewkerne beat them 3-0 in the semi-final of the Challenge Cup and manager Tim Edwards will be looking for a much better performance to maintain their Premiership challenge.

are both well placed to win their divisions, presenting the Seasiders with a great opportunity of all three teams winning their leagues. The Ressies are lying in second place in Division One, six points behind leaders South Petherton but with three games in hand.

In Division Three, Lyme Bantams are also in second place, three points behind leaders Chard United Reserves but with three games in hand.

If Lyme were able to do the treble it would be the first time in the club's 129 year history.

On Saturday the Reserves are away to South Petherton in the Arthur Gage Cup.

The Bantams, who travel to neighbours Charmouth in the Daisy Hutchings Cup (2pm kick-off), are at home to Hawkchurch nextTuesday evening (6.15 kick-off).
